

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS

1st INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS ON GASTRONOMIC TOURISM

The first edition of the International and Interuniversity Congress on Gastronomic Tourism will be held in Barcelona on November 27, 28, and 29, 2025. This event is conceived as a space for interdisciplinary reflection on the relationship between tourism and gastronomy. Under the title "Current Realities, Emerging Trends, and Future Directions," the congress seeks to foster encounters and debate among academics, researchers, and professionals from diverse disciplines who study, work, or are interested in this field.

Over the course of three days, the current dynamics, interconnections, and new perspectives in the relationship between tourism and gastronomy will be explored. Furthermore, this congress is taking place in a special context: Catalonia's designation as a World Region of Gastronomy 2025, becoming the first European region to receive this recognition.

The event is organized by prestigious universities and institutions specialized in the study of gastronomic tourism, including: the University of Alcalá de Henares, the Peruvian University of Applied Sciences (UPC) of Lima-Peru, the Mediterranean Gastronomy Center (GASTERRA) of the University of Alicante, the UNESCO Chair of Food, Culture and Development of the Universitat Oberta de Catalunya (UOC) and the CETT, Barcelona School of Tourism, Hospitality & Gastronomy - Universitat de Barcelona, which is leading the organization of this first edition in collaboration with the Barcelona Provincial Council.

The Congress will be held at the CETT campus, located in Barcelona, just twenty minutes from the city center.

Thematic lines include, but are not limited to:

- The development of gastronomic tourism linked to intangible heritage attractions and events, highlighting its contribution to cultural preservation and local identity.
- Gastronomic nominations and recognitions (Gastronomic Capital, World Gastronomy Region, European Gastronomy Region, among others) as positioning and competitiveness tools.
- Marketing strategies in gastronomic tourism applied to both destinations and businesses, including digital marketing and offering differentiation.
- The use of gastronomic brands as vectors of tourism promotion and economic development.
- Specific areas of gastronomic tourism, such as gastrodiplomacy, wine tourism, and innovations in gastronomic experiences for businesses and destinations.
- Post-pandemic trends that have redefined gastronomic tourism and the new consumption habits associated with it. The contribution of gastronomic tourism to the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and its role in social, economic, and environmental sustainability.
- Future prospects for gastronomic tourism: new forms, emerging processes and cultural meanings.
- The influence of fiction, virtual reality, and cinema as platforms for promoting and narrating gastronomic tourism.
- New avenues for academic research in gastronomic tourism, with a multidisciplinary and innovative approach.
- The role of women in gastronomy, sommelier, and leadership in culinary tourism, and their visibility within the sector.

The most relevant articles presented during the conference will be eligible for the following publication options, through selection through anonymous peer review processes and following the publication standards of each journal:

INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL OF GASTRONOMY & FOOD SCIENCES. It is a peer-reviewed journal that explicitly focuses on the intersection between food science and gastronomy. The Journal seeks articles that clearly demonstrate this interaction. This journal encourages scientists and chefs alike to publish original scientific articles, review articles, commentaries, and original culinary works. Included in the Science Citation Index Expanded (SCIE), Scopus , SJR (SCImago Journal Rank), MIAR (Information Matrix for Journal Analysis).

TOURIST RESEARCH. Featured articles in English or Spanish related to the field of humanities and social sciences from a tourism perspective will be considered for publication in the journal. Indexed in Scopus, DOAJ, ESCI, DIALNET; ERIHPlus , LATINDEX.

ARA: JOURNAL OF TOURISM RESEARCH. The most outstanding articles, written in English or Spanish, that analyze the links between the tourism and territorial sectors, both in sustainable and smart destination management, will be considered for publication in Ara : Journal . of Tourism Research . Indexed in DOAJ, DIALNET, and LATINDEX; evaluated in ERIHPlus , LATINDEX, and REDIB.

TOURISM & HERITAGE JOURNAL. Featured articles written in English or Spanish that analyze topics related to heritage and museography, cultural geography, or sociology, always with tourism as the backbone, will be considered for publication in Tourism & Heritage Journal. Indexed in DOAJ, DIALNET, LATINDEX; evaluated in ERIHPlus and REDIB.

GASTRONOMY & TOURISM JOURNAL. Featured articles in English related to the field of humanities and social sciences from a tourism perspective will be considered for publication in the journal. Indexed in EBSCO, Google Scholar, and Southern Cross University.

The final program will be finalized in the coming months and will be detailed in future circulars and on the conference website.

PRESENTATION OF COMMUNICATIONS

Papers must address one of the Congress's topics of interest and will be evaluated anonymously by the members of the Scientific Committee. Those selected will be presented orally during the First International Congress on Gastronomic Tourism and published, along with the presentations, in a digital book of proceedings with ISBN.

All those wishing to contribute papers to the Congress must indicate this when registering as a Congress attendee. Once registered, they will be provided with a web address where they can submit a summary of their paper via the platform Easychair. Upon receipt, abstracts will be reviewed for acceptance, and the authors will be notified of the corresponding decision within the stipulated timeframe.

The abstract should be 300 words long. It should include the aspects addressed in the paper, including the introduction, objectives, methodology, and results, as well as 3 to 5 keywords, following the attached template. The languages accepted at the Congress are Catalan, Spanish, English, and Portuguese.

All accepted papers must be defended at the conference by at least one of their authors, who must be registered for this purpose. Authors not registered for the conference will not be entitled to obtain the appropriate presentation certificate. Presentations and papers may be presented in person at the conference in any of the four conference languages.
